STORAGE PROTECTION

Essential Ransomware Prevention Storage For Teams And Professionals
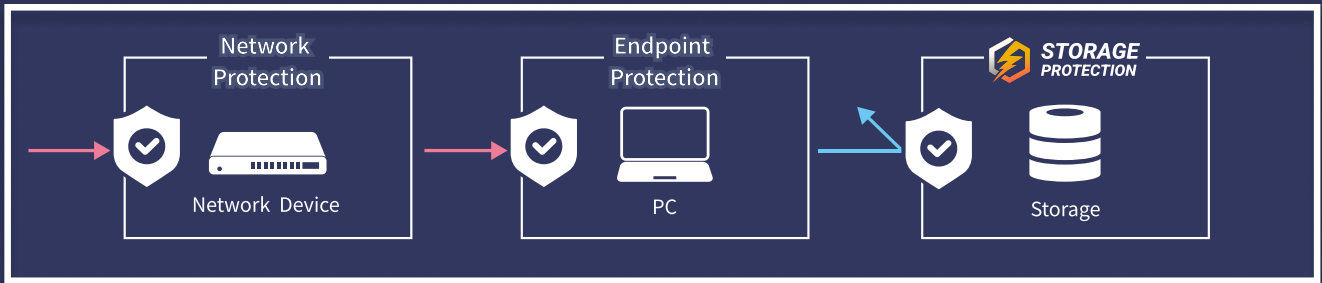

FILINGBOX TEAM

What is FilingBox Team?

FilingBox Team is a secure file storage for teams and professionals. It has an application detection module and provides a network drive for PCs. It provides a file with a read-only attribute for all applications except Windows Explorer after examining applications requesting data. So the data is protected, even if ransomware is already running on PC.

What is the Storage Protection Technology?

Storage protection technology protects data in a network drive against ransomware and data breach malware attacks. As network protection and endpoint protection technology have a detection module on the network and endpoint device, we added a detection module to the storage, which allows only preregistered applications, i.e. Windows Explorer, to read, modify, and delete data. It works well together with existing network protection and endpoint protection technologies. The emphasis is on the importance of adding one more protection layer to the storage, like network protection and endpoint protection technology.
